READ ME FIRST

A .zip file containing software documents has been provided with this release. The documents have been prepared with an indexing function to allow you to search for terms in all the PDF files contained in the .zip file.

1. Unzip the.zip file by right-clicking the file and select Open, then click Extract.

   Extract the entire contents of the zip file to your local drive.

   You must keep the files in their original folder structure or the index will break. Do not remove or rename any of the files in the unzipped folder.

2. Double click the file with the .pdx extension (for example, index.pdx) to launch it.

3. If the Search dialog box does not display, select the full search icon (the binoculars 🔍).

   In the Search dialog box, the "In the index named …" option is selected.

4. Enter the term you want to search for in the "What word or phase would you like to search for?" box.
